Plenty of Bananas

Arriving from far and near since newspapers told her story, gift bananas soothe the craving of curly-headed Myrna Tawney, 9, in what may be her last days. Victim of leukemia, she's pictured with some of the fruit in her bed at Fairmont, W. Va.

PA NEW OBSERVES

James Johns of 403 1/2 Lyndal street has returned home from a hunting trip in McKean county where he bagged a 150-pound eight-point buck.

Joe Roth, Jr., R. D. No. 4, reported to Pa. News that he brought in a 150-pound 8 point buck at 10 o'clock on Thursday, December 6, from 1619 East Washington street was in the party.

It was not long after school was out Monday afternoon, following the snowfall, when boys and girls brought out their sleds from storage. One of the locations we noticed that was being used was that of Oak street hill.

"A cyclist, like a pedestrian, cannot complete with a motor vehicle in a collision," the state revenue department said today in urging bicycle operators to ride safely. "Bicycle accident, like pedestrian accidents, can be avoided if cyclists used due care in their riding and always give the right of way to a motor vehicle, whether they are on or not," the department stated.

James Gibson, aged 15, of Mt. Jackson, reported to Pa. News this morning that he shot a 150-pound three-point buck Saturday morning at 11 o'clock at Spruce Creek, Huntingdon county.

Four local hunters have returned from a trip in the vicinity of Martintown, each being successful in bagging a buck. They are Henry Straubach and son Edward of 219 Pearson street, son Tom of Vine street and John Bonfield of Vine street.

Some of the traffic lights on streets in the downtown area were shifted over to the blinker system Monday afternoon when travel conditions became treacherous on the hills.

Two weeks from today will be Christmas Day, in case you aren't familiar with the rapidly approaching date.

Some motorists had chains put on their autos last night and this morning, due to traffic conditions on the slippery roads and streets. Hills were well ashed, and travel was not too difficult for most motorists. Few accidents were reported.

Skating enthusiasts are hopeful. Temperature dropped below 20 degrees, and a continuation of this temperature should put a nice skating surface on the ponds in this locality.

By a strange coincidence, Dr. Henry Sloan was attracted by the item in Monday's Pa. News column which told about the welcome home sign at the Welker home on the Harbor road, when he received a letter from his nephew, Dr. Norman Schoenfeld, in which he told about

Jap Submarine Skipper Quizzed

Officer Who Reportedly Ordered Indianapolis Fired Upon Questioned Four Hours

WASHINGTON, Dec. 11.—(INS)—The judge advocate of the naval court investigating the sinking of the cruiser Indianapolis disclosed today that he questioned a Japanese submarine skipper for four hours in connection with the loss of the vessel.

The announcement was made by Capt. Thomas J. Ryan, prosecutor in the court martial trial of Capt. Charles B. McVay III, the commander of the cruiser. The Japanese officer is Comdr. Iku Hashimoto who reportedly ordered torpedoes fired into the Indianapolis.

To Study Transcript
Ryan told reporters that he conducted the questioning of Hashimoto through two interpreters in the Washington Navy yard.

The judge advocate added he had not yet decided if or when the Japanese officer would be called to the witness stand in McVay's trial. Ryan said he planned to study carefully the transcript of the interview to determine the "credibility and competence" of Hashimoto as a possible witness.

Ryan was asked if this were the first case in which a former enemy was called as a witness in the court martial of an American officer. He replied he believed a Britisher once was called in such an inquiry after the Revolutionary war or the war of 1812.

NUERNBERG, Dec. 11.—The Nuernberg courtroom echoed to fanatic shouts and foaming Nazi chants today as films documenting 20 years of Nazi gangsterism blasted attempts by the 21 defendants to pass the war-crimes back to Hitler.

Their faces white in the glow of footlights, the remnants of the once all-powerful Nazi hierarchy saw itself yessing, heeling and shrieking approval of the wild-eyed man actor Adolf Hitler.

Saw Themselves For Years
They saw themselves from the days of the party's beginnings in 1921 pitching in zealously to help their master grab power, ride rough-shod over Jews and Communists, burn books, then double-cross and finally ruin all Europe.

Developments In Auto Strike Wage Parleys

DETROIT, Dec. 11.—(INS)—The twenty-first day of the bitterly-fought General Motors strike today found the UAW-CIO almost totally split with GM while at the same time they were working harmoniously with the Ford Company.

GM threw the union back into a defensive by suddenly cancelling its contract with the UAW. The contract was to have expired April 26, 1946.

Security Guarantee
But the union simultaneously took the offensive on another front by offering Ford a security guarantee against authorized strikes and slowdowns.

This was the best piece of union-management plan to date. It was the first security plan ever offered an employer by an international union.

Nobody could figure the effect of the surprising developments of the past 24 hours.

Although GM cancelled its contract with UAW this did not mean it had broken off negotiations with the union. Negotiations were to be resumed this afternoon.

Significantly it was announced that the Ford Company tomorrow will discuss wage negotiations with UAW. Hereafter they have been talking over factors in the contract.

Fines For Wildcat Strikes
The UAW in its security proposal to Ford offered to hold participants in wildcat strikes to fines of $3 to $5 daily.

Another significant development was this: Richard T. Leonard, UAW-CIO Ford director, indicated at the conclusion of Monday's negotiation session, that the union is not driving for "30 per cent—or else" against Ford.

This was contrasted in some quarters to mean the Ford wage settlement might be less than the avowed UAW-CIO objective.

A Ford settlement quite conceivably could set the pattern for the entire automobile industry.

Butler County Pressing Hard In E Bond Race

Still in the "E" bond race lead in the Fort Pitt area, Lawrence county today showed a percentage of 22.8 with Butler moving into second place with a percentage of 6.9. Indiana slipped into third place with a percentage of 6.2 but threatened to challenge the leader by tomorrow. Beaver has 6.4 Westmoreland 6.1 Erie 6.2 Mercer 6.2 Somerset 6.0 and Crawford 3.8. These are the counties in the Fort Pitt area above the area average of 5.1.

The sale of "E" bonds continues throughout December. They make useful Christmas presents, and a guilt edge investment. Actually they are cash in another form for they can be cashed when needed.

Co-chairman Clarence M. England, who is directing the campaign from the Greater New Castle Association headquarters, was still urging a little more pressure in the "E" bond sales in this county.

"Our folks have done such a magnificent job it would be a shame to slip now," said he.

All that remains for Lawrence county to have a perfect record for the Victory Loan campaign is approximately $500,000 worth of "E" bonds sold.

Physicians Announce Gen. Patton Has Broken Neck—Improves Slightly

BATTLE FOR LIFE OF NOTED GENERAL

FRANKFURT, Dec. 11.—Gen. George S. Patton, Jr., has a broken neck, his physical condition is holding its own and his neurological condition "shows a slight improvement."

However, physicians attending the colorful tank commander declined today to estimate his chances for recovery.

Patton is suffering a fracture of the third cervical vertebra. This has shifted backward on the fourth neck vertebra and is squeezing the spinal cord between the two segments.

Completely Paralyzed
The general is completely paralyzed from the neck down.

Victory Bond Total Is Now Over 17 Billion

WASHINGTON, Dec. 11.—(INS)—The Treasury announced today that sales in the Victory Loan to date total seventeen billion 207 million dollars. This is 156.4 percent of the eleven billion dollar overall goal.

Sales to corporate investors so far reported are twelve billion 424 million dollars. This is 177.5 percent of quota.

Sales to individuals reached four billion 783 million or almost 120 percent of the four billion quota.

Included in these were sales of E-Bonds totaling one billion 291 million or 64.5 percent of the national E-Bond quota of two billion dollars.

E-Bond Sales Climb
Ted R. Gamble, national director of the Treasury's War Finance Division, commented that this E-Bond figure was thirty six million dollars above the expected sales at this date. Gamble said:

"There is little question that the E-Bond quota will be met and surpassed. The means that the Victory Loan already over the top in every other category, will have up another proud record for the workers and for the nation when final figures are announced right after New Year's."

Army Declares Gen. Patton Rumor Entirely Bunk

(BULLETIN)

PARIS, Dec. 11.—(INS)—Army officials today characterized as "bunk" a report in the Paris newspaper La Nation to the effect that Nazi underground "Werewolves" were responsible for Gen. George S. Patton's accident.

The newspaper had quoted Swiss reports as saying that a wire had been stretched across the road near Mannheim, forcing an army truck into the path of Patton's sedan.

City firemen were called to Moody and Delaware avenues at 7:59 p.m. Monday, when someone again pulled box 212. Firemen were unable to find any fire in that vicinity.

Slippery Roads In State Areas

Heavy Snowfall Is Reported In Some Western Pennsylvania Districts

(International News Service)
Freezing temperatures were reported throughout Pennsylvania today as glazed roads in the wake of sleet and snowfall accounted for numerous accidents.

Four inches of snow was reported at Erie, Pa. Three inches in central Pennsylvania, 2.8 inches in the Philadelphia area. Temperatures ranged in the 20's throughout the state with Bluffsville reporting a low of 16 degrees.

Treacherous icy roads in the Pittsburgh area resulted in 10 injuries, authorities reported. In the Quaker City area frozen slush brought accident rates to eight with one fatality.

Sledding Mishap
One sledding mishap first this season, was reported in Philadelphia. John Wylie, 15, sustained a fractured leg when he was struck by a hit-run motorist whose house plate was obscured by snow.

The storm was reported to have grounded at least five airplanes in Philadelphia and from all over the state came reports of stalled traffic as vehicles stalled in the white blanket.

At Erie state police reported a two to five-inch snowfall in Erie, Crawford and Mercer counties. Highways were slippery and in some areas snowplows were called into service to keep roads open.

One to three inches of snow was reported from Westmoreland, Washington and Fayette counties. With three inches in Somerset county.

Although highway crews were out all night with under trucks and the snow plow on the main roads, Highway Superintendent Edwin O. Reed warned drivers to drive cautiously on all rural roads.

Most of the roads, including the secondary roads, are expected to be in fairly good condition today.

Intercepted Jap Code Messages Pointed To War

Gen. Marshall Said Jap Orders For Burning Codes Meant 'In General'

TROUBLE SEEN IN DECODED MESSAGES

(BULLETIN)

WASHINGTON, Dec. 11.—(INS)—Gen. George C. Marshall denied a "rumor" today that he had issued an order for destruction of the famous "Jap-peace winds" message.

Marshall told the Pearl Harbor Investigating committee the rumor had been passed on to him by navy sources, that it was investigated and it was found "there was no basis for that statement."

Sen. Ferguson R. Mich., asked if there is now no basis for such a rumor and Marshall replied:

"As far as I am concerned, there is not."

WASHINGTON, Dec. 11.—(INS)—Gen. George C. Marshall said today that intercepted Jap orders for the burning of codes before Pearl Harbor meant at least a diplomatic break and "in general"—war.

The retired chief of staff told the Pearl Harbor committee that the flow of information obtained in early December, 1941, from decoded Jap messages all pointed to trouble.

But the Washington high command he said did not determine the "true significance" of the messages.

Chicago Police Hunting Maniac

Brutal Murder Of Former Wave, Seventh In Week, Stirs Officials

CHICAGO, Dec. 11.—(INS)—Police would a "maniac" killer today who had stabbed and shot to death a former Wave in her Chicago apartment and left a "maniac" written on the wall of more victims to come.

The victim was Miss Frances Brown, 32, a clerk formerly of Richmond, Ind., who was discharged from the WAVES last September.

Her nude body was found yesterday in a small bathroom over a bathtub in her sixth floor apartment.

Seventh Slaying
It was the seventh slaying in Chicago in a week.

The body on the wall, in blood, was marked with "X's."

Police said the killer was "a maniac" and "I can't control myself."

Police Capt. Frank Reynolds said Miss Brown's body was found with her head on the bottom of the bathtub, her feet resting on the floor in a semi-kneeling position. She had been beaten, shot through the head and chest, arm, and stabbed twice. A self-inflicted neck wound was inflicted in her throat. The body protruded from the left side.

"Whoever the killer was, he was a maniac, and we must get him," Reynolds said.

Police are looking for a man, about 30 years old, 5 feet 10 inches tall, with a mustache, and who was last seen in the area of the slaying.

History repeats itself, they say, and today we are finding it again, for a great sign as you will recall, the streets and the meadows were white and the snow was piled around the kitchen door and the drifts in the woods were high, and the cars were sliding and buses were stalled and the fire trucks rolled on by. So here it is just another year hence and the situation is almost the same, the weather is twenty-eight.

Expect Break In Carlan Kidnaping

Following Questioning Of Parents Of Stolen Child, Police Start Mystery Trip

CHELSEA, Mass., Dec. 11.—(INS)—Police officials indicated today that they expected a major break in the investigation of the Carlan kidnaping within 24 hours.

This case, which started at midnight after Mr. and Mrs. James J. Carlan, parents of the abducted six-month-old baby, Ronald, had been questioned separately for almost three hours by Chelsea and state police and FBI agents.

Police Chief Charles M. Finn passed off queries about what the questioners had learned with the comment that "we uncovered several new points of interest."

At midnight Chief Finn and other police officials left on a mystery assignment.

Sork Man and Woman
Mrs. Carlan was reported suffering from complete nervous exhaustion and was under the care of a physician.

Boston police, meanwhile, were conducting a widespread hunt through the south end for a swarthy man and his "hard-faced red-haired" woman companion, believed to be the pair who have been making threatening and ransom-demand telephone calls to the Carlan home.

Today is the 13th day since the youngster was snatched from his carriage in which he had been left for a sun nap across the street from the Carlan home.

SLIGHT CHANGE IN CONDITION OF GEN. GEO. PATTON

Mannheim Sunday, the colorful former Third Army commander's condition became critical at noon yesterday.

On Eve of Return to U. S.

An official army bulletin said however that Patton was "responding satisfactorily" to treatment.

Meanwhile, International News Service learned that the accident which fractured a spinal vertebra and caused complete paralysis from the neck down occurred on the very eve of Patton's return to the United States and possible retirement from active duty.

Orders for a 30-day furlough already had been written when the four-star general and his chief of staff, Maj. Gen. Hobart Gay, started on the pleasant hunt which ended in a Heidelberg hospital bed after a mile-a-minute ambulance dash from Mannheim.

With his tour of duty as U. S. 15th Army commander scheduled for completion shortly after January 1, Patton probably would have been retired at expiration of his leave.

Marshall's attention was called by Sen. Ferguson (R., Mich.), to several of the intercepted messages.

One Tokyo-Washington message, on Nov. 22, moved the Nipponese "deadline" for a peace settlement from Nov. 25 to Nov. 29 and advised the Japanese ambassadors "there are reasons beyond your ability to guess" why this was done.

Significance Not Determined

"The true significance of that message we did not determine," Marshall conceded. "Know what happened, it is clear what the circumstances were they had in mind. But whether it referred to the Russians, the Germans, or others we could not tell."

Ferguson referred to the Tokyo-Washington message of Dec. 1, 1941, advising Ambassador Nomura and Envoy Kurihara that Japanese officers in London, Hongkong, Singapore and Manila had been instructed to dispose of code machines.

He asked Marshall what significance this had.

"It certainly would be an indication of at least a rupture in diplomatic relations," the general replied. "Ferguson wanted to know if it did not mean war."

"Not necessarily," Marshall countered.

"Mean War?"

"Doesn't it from the army viewpoint mean war?" Ferguson insisted.

"In general, yes, sir," Marshall replied.

Marshall was questioned on the 1940 army order which alerted Hawaii for six weeks to a possible "trans-Pacific raid" and how it compared with the Nov. 27, 1941, warning he sent to Oahu prior to the real Jap sneak attack.

The new ambassador to China agreed that the 1940 order was a "specific alert" Hawaii was being specifically alerted because the information the army had indicated a possible raid against Hawaii only. The 1941 warnings went to all Pacific outposts, Marshall explained.

From President

Inclusion in the 1941 message to Gen. Walter C. Short of the phrase "The United States desires that Japan commit the first overt act" was "a direct instruction of the president," Marshall said.

Marshall said he could not recall whether the late President Roosevelt gave him that instruction personally, or relayed it to him.

"I think he gave it to me," said Marshall. "But I know he gave it to me. Marshall brought together to the committee room when he testified that he had not been able to read the lengthy 14-part Jap reply of Dec. 6-7, 1941, the other day."

Then I got three-fourths of the way through and I was interrupted by something about China, and I never got through."

Marshall's plane is standing by—ready to fly him to Chungking as soon as the committee releases him from the witness stand.

FILMS SHOW 20 YEARS OF NAZI GANGSTERISM WAR TRIAL EVIDENCE

They and their judges watched as the film outlined the continuing Nazi career of street brinks, cut-throat politics and ruthless assassinations. The documentary record, entitled "The Nazi Plan," was expected to continue four hours.

Double Guards Placed

Double guards were placed over the defendants as the four-part record was unfolded in the dimmed courtroom. Part one depicted the rise of the Nazi party from 1921 to 1933; part two, the acquisition of totalitarian control of Germany to 1933; part three, preparation for aggression; and part four, from 1933 to 1944 aggressive war.

Hitler was the star of the show with anti-semitic Rudolf Hess playing the second lead. Reinhold Hermann Goering and the other Nazi defendants were the Dead-end kids of international gangsterism.

Nazi Congress

An entire chapter consisted of the 1934 Nazi party congress produced at Hitler's request by Nazi Artists Leni Riefenstahl, whose current inclination is to deny she was a Nazi sympathizer.

Few of the scenes are new, but several recalled the darkest plots on the Nazi record—the bombings of Warsaw and Rotterdam, the gleeful hand-rubbing of Hitler, Goering and Benito Mussolini before Munich and Hitler's jagged grin after signing of the French armistice in Compiegne forest.

There were a few Nazi celebrations, meetings of the Axis partners, a wildly applauding Reichstag as Germany declared war on the United States. There was a dazed Hitler after the 1944 bomb attempt on his life. There was the entire picture of history's most brutal regime.

And finally, there was a brutal Nazi prisoner camp judge handing out anti-Nazi prisoners in grim contrast to the painstaking justice with which the Nuremberg trials are being conducted.

Garth Edmundson Plays Woman's Club Musicales

Certain occasions are memorable not only for their intrinsic enjoyment but as occasions when fellow-townpeople gather in tribute to a resident whose name is one of international note. Such an occasion was the Woman's Club program Monday evening in the First Presbyterian church when Garth Edmundson, composer and organist-director of the First Presbyterian church, played a Christmas organ recital.

Mr. Edmundson played for a large and appreciative audience of club members, their husbands and guests at what was the annual guest-day program of Woman's club. First part of the program was composed of three numbers: Procession Solemn and Chant Stripped by Alex. Guilmant, which was written for the dedication of the organ in Notre Dame Cathedral, Paris, in 1870; Soeur Monique by Couperin, an early French composition in rondo form, freely arranged by Mr. Edmundson; In Memoriam by Harvey Gaul, played in honor of the late Dr. Gaul.

For the second part of the program Mr. Edmundson played from original manuscript the first public performance of three Modest Preludes, on Communion, "Tears, More Love to Thee, Jesu, Gentlest Saviour, and a Paraphrase from We Sing.

Third part of the program included the organist's own composition, Epiphany published in 1942, his Von Hummel Hoch published in 1935, which now heads the national survey of American toccatas, and Pax Vobiscum published in 1930.

At the close of the program, Mrs. Alvah M. Shumaker, president, invited the assemblage to the Sunday school room where tea was served from a table set near a large lighted Christmas tree and decorated in keeping with the season. Mrs. A. B. Fankhauser and Mrs. John E. Elliott presided at the tea table.

Hostess committee of the evening was Mrs. Ellis G. Dietenderfer, Mrs. Joseph A. Hartman, Mrs. J. J. Melvaine, Mrs. W. A. Margrat, Mrs. David T. Evans, Mrs. A. B. Fankhauser, Mrs. H. E. Golder, Mrs. Loy H. Patterson, Mrs. James A. Rich, Mrs. Ross Ravenberger, and Mrs. S. Glenn McCracken.

Next meeting of Woman's club will be held January 21 at Highland U. P. church when Mary Mossman Beattie will speak on "Jewels."

BAPTIST W. M. S. PROGRAM TONIGHT

Women's Missionary society of the First Baptist church will meet this evening at 7:30 in the church. Mrs. Gladys Kray will be in charge of devotionals.

On the program there will be special music by the Oak Street school orchestra and a pageant, "Madonnas Around the World," will be presented by the Nora Landis circle.

Section G. Y. I. B. Class

Section G associates of the Y. I. B. class of the Third U. P. church will have an all day session and luncheon Thursday at the home of Mrs. Sadie Richardson, Butler road.

AFTERNOON TEA GIVEN FOR BRIDE

One of the lovely events of the holiday season was the tea given Saturday afternoon by Mrs. Charles W. Nolan and Mrs. George A. Carpenter at Mrs. Nolan's home, 427 East Sheridan avenue, for her daughter-in-law, Mrs. Charles W. Nolan Jr.

Between the hours of two and five o'clock the hostesses and guest of honor received nearly 60 guests. Arrangements of flowers decorated the house for the occasion.

Tea was served from a table centered with a bouquet of all white flowers with Mrs. David P. McBride and Miss Mary McBride pouring.

Mrs. John J. Arrington, Mrs. Charles M. Cholz, Mrs. John Hodge, and Mrs. Frank Richards were aides. Mrs. Nolan Jr., who is the former Katherine Howard Posey, and her husband arrived recently in New Castle where they expect to make their home.

RAINBOW GIRLS ARE GUESTS OF O. E. S.

Members of New Castle Chapter No. 105, Order of the Eastern Star, were delightfully entertained Monday evening when they had the privilege of witnessing the beautiful initiation ceremony of the Order of the Rainbow for Girls which was exemplified by the officers and members of Assembly No. 1 in the east lodge room of the Cathedral.

A class of 25 girls was initiated by Miss Marion Wheldon, worthy advisor, and her corps of officers. Preceding the ceremony there was a drill supervised by Mrs. Orville Potter. During the evening Miss Beverly Fox rendered a beautiful vocal number, and special music was also furnished by the choir, directed by Mrs. Clifford Probst.

Mrs. Coraetta Reid, worthy matron of the guest chapter, was presented with several lovely gifts by the assembly.

Following the program, the girls were guests of the chapter at a delightful Christmas luncheon in the dining room. Both the lodge room and dining room were attractively decorated in keeping with the season and lovely favors were given.

Mrs. Edith Simpson was in charge of the refreshments, assisted by Mrs. Bertha Armstrong, while the decorations and favors were arranged by Mrs. Theima Thompson.

Pantherette club members will have a Christmas party this evening in the club rooms, South Mill street. Mrs. A. J. Capedo as chairman, Mrs. Robert Peltz, Mrs. Joseph Panella, Mrs. John Peltz, Mrs. Anthony Peltz and Mrs. Anthony Ambrose will assist.

Excess Profits Tax Carry-Back Workings

WASHINGTON, Dec. 11.—The workings of the so-called carry-back under the wartime excess profits tax are something to behold. For corporations struggling with the problems of reconversion, strikes, shortages and snafu in general, the carry-back is a dream of heaven: a pink cloud that will cushion every big corporation for another 12 months.

As the law stands today, a corporation paying excess profits tax in 1945 could shut down completely, let its plant fall into ruin and yet make almost as much money in 1946 as it did this year. Here is how it works.

Allowed Credit
Each corporation, under the wartime provision, is allowed an excess profits credit for each year of wartime profits. This is based on the average earnings of the company for the years 1936 to '39, or as an alternative on invested capital. On profits above this credit the corporation paid during the war at the rate of 55 per cent.

But in order to make sure that the big corporations would have enough funds to tide them through reconversion, Congress hooked on the carry-back. Take, as an example, a corporation with an excess profits credit of $1,000,000. That company in 1944 made $500,000 more than the credit. In 1945 it made $1,000,000 in profit which was just equal to the credit and therefore the corporation will pay no excess profits tax for the current year.

But in 1946 the company will make only $600,000, or $400,000 less than the credit. Therefore it can go back to 1944 when it paid the 55 per cent rate on $500,000, and claim a refund of $342,000, which is the difference between the tax paid on $500,000 and the tax paid on $1,000,000. Thus profits for 1946 before deduction of the normal corporation tax, would be brought up to $942,000.

Question Involved
Whether a corporation that simply quits could claim the whole amount of excess profits tax paid in previous years—or enough to cover the credit—is a question the Federal courts will doubtless have to decide. And before it is decided, it may well get into Congress.

When the excess profits tax was repealed in the revenue act adopted a month ago, Congress voted to extend the carry-back for another year, through the end of 1946. That there are stirrings of conscience on this score, however, is indicated by a statement made in the report of the Senate Finance committee on that generous law.

"It is believed necessary to continue the carry-back for one more year, to be sure that business has the opportunity to apply reconversion expenditures to reduce wartime profits. However, it is recognized that this would be subject to abuse and inquiry. Therefore, your committee is studying ways of removing the abuses of this provision and expects to propose retroactive legislation on this subject in the near future."

Will Be Much Debated
That is a question you are certain to hear debated if big strikes develop in 1946. Labor will be on one side and the corporations on the other. Given the present temper of Congress, it is not likely that corporations suffering losses from strikes will be judged in "abuse" of the law and therefore the companies will get their tax refunds.

A textile mill owner in the South is reported to have told his employees in a pamphlet circulated throughout his mills that his profits were guaranteed under the carry-back provision, but the company could not be paid for their wages. The moral was that they had better think a long time before they voted to go out on strike.

Agitation is already beginning for outright repeal of the carry-back provision. This is not likely. It is possible, however, that under pressure from labor it will be amended to deny carry-back to employers who refuse to comply with collective bargaining procedure.

Few foresaw, at least on the labor side, what this seemingly innocent provision would mean. But business has been aware from the beginning of the weapon it held.

People who hope they do not intrude usually do.

One of the necessary steps to becoming more popular with the people with whom you are in daily contact is to improve your habits of speech.

This is not just a matter of being careful of what you say, but how you say it.

Too many of us—nearly every one, in fact—use pet phrases in our every day conversation that are outmoded and out-dated. The expressions are called bromides.

Too many of us have the habit of repeating ourselves. We use the same expressions and words over and over. We work them to death and because of this habit people are inclined to avoid us.

Too many of us use old-fashioned phrases which are sometimes called clichés in our conversation and particularly in our letterwriting. Such expressions as "Yours of even date received" and "contents duly noted" are per vogue of even date.

"In reply to your letter of the 10th inst." and "kindly expression" give you a poorly received letter. They indicate that you lack the imagination or originality to say things better and to say them differently.

Too many of us are "time wasters" without realizing it. Never use language that wastes your listeners' or your readers' time.

Those who invest in going concerns should make sure which way they are going.

A man thinks he knows. His wife knows better.

Warning: Never pick on a man bigger than you are.

Officer O'Reilly was telling of an incident that occurred while he was on traffic duty at Main and Third yesterday. A duty, rattling old jalopy, driven by a wizened man, approached the crossing and even though O'Reilly held up his hand, the car rolled right ahead without stopping until it had passed him.

In a stern tone of voice, O'Reilly said to the driver as he caught up with him: "Aye! What's the matter with you anyway? Let me see you try them brakes."

"It's no use, Officer. The brakes on this car ain't no good. They won't work," answered the driver meekly.

"Oh they won't, won't they? Let me see your license."

All during this exchange of words, the rather stout, domineering lady in the back seat was nervously fidgeting as she saw that her husband was getting in deeper and deeper, and wanting to help him out, she asked O'Reilly: "Officer! Don't you pay any attention to a word he says. He's drunk!"

Recently, I rode in a street car across from a small boy of about twelve accompanied by his mother and another woman. I could not hear his conversation, but judging from the child's expression, I knew he was telling a serious anecdote. I could likewise tell from his pained expression at their laughter that what he said was not meant to be funny.

To avoid insult to injury, their faces were weathered in famous smiles as he paid their fares with the money his mother had very easily given him.

My immediate reaction was: "How not to bring up children." By such treatment is self-consciousness bred in the young and instilled so deeply that it is difficult to eradicate when they mature.

Professor Laski Leaves Bad Taste

WASHINGTON, Dec. 11.—FOR MANY years the representatives of Great Britain in this country have been consistently men of tact and courtesy as well as character, judgment and charm. With genuine personal friendliness toward the United States and a patriotic desire for closer understanding between the two countries, they have been both puzzled and pained at the occasional evidences of anti-British feeling here.

Most thoughtful Americans have deplored with them the irrational nature of this feeling and been equally baffled to put their finger upon concrete causes. It is not often that one such shows up, but one certainly did a few days ago when Prof. Harold J. Laski, chairman of the British Labor party, making his first public appearance in this country since 1939, spoke at a dinner where the problem of the atomic bomb was supposed to be the topic of discussion.

IT IS true that Prime Minister Attlee, who made a very favorable personal impression here on his recent visit, has said it is more than one that Mr. Laski does not speak either for him or for the Labor government. Nevertheless, his position in the Labor party is such as to give his utterances more weight than if he had no such connection. To put it mildly, these utterances at this dinner were unfortunate. No one would contend that they contributed to the betterment of British-American relations.

WHAT THE professor did was to seize upon the atomic bomb as an excuse for making an attack upon the American free-enterprise system and unfavorably contrast it to the so-called system which he espoused. His speech seemed to be that the bomb makes it necessary for us to scrap our system and turn either to us or that of the Russians. Our form of economy, he indicated, was the direct road to a secure and a nation with such a system as ours could not be trusted to develop atomic energy within the framework of peace.

THESE WERE typical of the professor's remarks. His whole manner seemed to be to prove that because we cling to such a silly old idea as the free-enterprise system, we were going to have the atomic bomb. He seemed to be saying that if we do not scrap our system and turn to us or that of the Russians, we are going to have the atomic bomb. He seemed to be saying that if we do not scrap our system and turn to us or that of the Russians, we are going to have the atomic bomb.

NOW NO one disputes the right of the professor to say what he thinks. This, like his own, is a country of free speech and Mr. Laski has the right to go as far as he likes. However, it is permissible to question the taste of his utterances as well as their sense. Concerning their effect, it seems likely that they have increased rather than diminished that anti-British sentiment which is so deeply regretted by discerning Americans as well as by the British.

CERTAINLY, too, Mr. Laski's visible expression of the American way of life came at a particularly bad time for the financial negotiations still going on between the two governments. The success of which is important to both the British and ourselves. Concerning all the circumstances and considering that Mr. Laski speaks not for himself, it seems that as one newspaper editorially expressed it, the British Government, could do well if it suggested to the professor that this would be a fine time for him to shut up, go home and stay there.

DON'T RIDICULE CHILDREN

It is surprising, indeed, to note the number of adults who unwittingly ridicule and embarrass children.

Youngsters are very sensitive to grown-up reactions. Frequently they are in a state of mind while taking to us. They think we are encouraging them to express their opinions merely to give us a big laugh.

Their mistakes in pronunciation, their self-conscious efforts at self-expression, their attempts to emulate mature dignity bring back of delight from grown-up companions of poor judgment and sheepish grins of embarrassment from the youthful victim.

Dignity and grown-up behavior should be encouraged whether the child is five or fifteen. And even their "cute" mistakes should not be enjoyed voraciously in their presence.

Recently, I rode in a street car across from a small boy of about twelve accompanied by his mother and another woman. I could not hear his conversation, but judging from the child's expression, I knew he was telling a serious anecdote. I could likewise tell from his pained expression at their laughter that what he said was not meant to be funny.

To avoid insult to injury, their faces were weathered in famous smiles as he paid their fares with the money his mother had very easily given him.

LOOKING AT LIFE

By ERICH BRANDEIS

Two cases have just come to my attention, both of which are so similar that there must be thousands of others like them.

In case Number One a wife and husband were divorced and the father was required by the court to take care of the daughter until she was eighteen.

The girl went to a academy not far from New York and the father paid all her expenses. She was an excellent student and her one ambition in life was to become a teacher.

A few days before she was ready to pass her final examination, and receive her diploma she was called into the principal's office and notified that her father had stopped payments on the day she became eighteen, a couple of months ago.

The girl was told that her father had let her finish her education, the rules of the school forbade it and she would have to leave.

The girl was heartbroken and tried fruitlessly to get in touch with her father, but in vain. He would not even talk to her on the phone. The mother could not afford to pay the arrears and the girl had to leave.

Twelve months later, a young girl, working as a clerk in a department store, completely disillusioned and I am sure, very sad, had completely lost her interest in life and is pretty much on the road down.

Case Number Two is even more ghastly. A divorcee, a mother with two children, a daughter with tuberculosis in a private sanatorium at Saratoga Lake.

On the day this girl reached eighteen the father stopped payments. The mother has had to move out of her little apartment and go to some bleaker climate where she can take care of her daughter and maybe take out a pretentious nurse.

I wonder sometimes what kind of a completely transformed human nature into cruelty and take from all the finer instincts of the soul. I don't care how much you love a child.

Two divorces were—I don't care how much the reason was for two people who once loved each other to get on their own.

These children were conceived in love and are in no way responsible for the mistakes of their parents. Mind you, both of these men have some of the finer qualities of their nature.

There is a reason for their meanness is that they want to live alone, when—

Divorce in itself is bad enough, although it is an unfortunate circumstance in our so-called civilization. But why take it out on the children?

Why ruin the life of a human being which you yourself have brought into the world and whose downfall, if it comes, is your own moral downfall as well?

Whatever other immortality there may be the only evident and visible immortality lies in the lives you create and that live after you.

To kill your child's spirit or body is to kill your own right to live. Unless you take the accumulation of wealth into account.

The Parent Problem

By GARRY C. MYERS, Ph. D.

MODERN CHILDREN LACK FITY, SYMPATHY

In this cold hard mechanical world, our children may not get much cultivation of their finer emotions of tenderness, pity, sympathy.

In our desire to keep our children from "making it" and be successful, we may tend to help them acquire equipment, sympathy for the suffering and sorrow of others.

Although we might properly frown upon the rather primitive expressions of emotions by those groups in remote places of our country, such as the "hobo" keepers at the "hobo" camps, also realize that these same folk do have a feeling of sympathy for one another in times of sickness, death or other disaster.

Shielded From Woe
Without too great stress upon the feelings of the young child, he ought, perhaps, to come into contact with some of the sufferings and sorrows of other people. When our children are born, we try to shield them from woe. We think now that we did wrong.

Commendable, some teachers at school have their children write letters to classmates who are ill at home or in the hospital, even to make some small sacrifice such as giving a penny or two to buy flowers to be taken to some other child in the hospital.

NEW YORK, President Truman in a message to the United States conference of nations. To the reconversion period the greatest crisis of the nation and the federal government must join hands in the formation and development of many projects designed to provide a better American way of life.

WASHINGTON, Senator Arthur Capper (R-Kan.) launches a campaign. "I have come to the conclusion that Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower of Kansas is my candidate for the Republican nomination for president in 1948."

Smooth tires are hazardous even on wet highways, but they are much worse when the road is covered with snow and ice. If you are unable to replace your worn tires with new ones, they should at least be retreaded. A wise choice of speed on icy roads will also help eliminate a lot of unnecessary accidents.

Words Of Wisdom

It is a man's duty to be a man of his word.—Cornelius

Heavy Blow To Japanese

In requiring the arrest of former Premier Prince Fumimaro Kono and Baron Koki Kido along with seven other prominent Japanese leaders, General MacArthur has rocked the Jap political structure to its foundations. The emperor institution may survive this shock, but if it does it will be in profoundly altered form.

This latest blow falls just short of the throne. Prince Kono is both a member of the imperial house and perhaps the most influential of the group now close to Hirohito, for it was he who was chosen to write a new Japanese constitution and apparently to assume leadership in putting it into effect. As for Baron Kido, who has just resigned as lord privy seal, he was the emperor's trusted adviser all during the war.

With these men in custody, the emperor will have no alternative but to turn elsewhere for counsel in the future. More important, General MacArthur's action plainly implies that the plans that had been drafted for changing Japan's frame of government are unacceptable. Something far more thoroughgoing than anything Prince Kono was likely to put forward will have to be offered if the approval of supreme headquarters is to be forthcoming.

It is equally clear that Japanese liberals who have hesitated to risk challenging the old order will be encouraged by this latest proof that General MacArthur will not be satisfied with halfway measures. The demand for real reform should become more insistent as those who have stood in the way have the ground cut from beneath their feet.

So It Cannot Happen Again

With respect to some matters, the testimony in the Pearl Harbor hearings may be both shadowy and confusing—such as, for instance, General Marshall's inability to remember clearly what he did on December 7, 1941, or at what time he went for his horseback ride and at what time he returned.

But the testimony so far heard has proved beyond question that Washington's failure to be on the alert that fateful December 7 resulted in a war which could either have been averted entirely or won in infinitely shorter time.

General Marshall himself—and there can be no better or higher authority—is now on record with the statement that American forces in Hawaii were sufficient in numbers and arms to beat off an attack of the kind which the enemy made and that the Japanese, had they been thwarted on that occasion, would never have taken Singapore, never have cut the Burma Road and might have lost their whole southward campaign.

The conclusion therefore is that the lapse at Pearl Harbor was directly responsible for the untold suffering and misery which so many Americans had to undergo through four long years and which was so costly in blood and treasure.

It was the greatest mistake in American history. The more reason exists, therefore, for the most thorough exploration of the causes of the disaster and no delicate concern for the reputation of any men, living or dead, should be permitted to turn the investigators from the examination of every scrap of pertinent evidence and the just assessment of responsibility.

It happened once, to the nation's cost and sorrow. To find out now why it happened is the best way to make sure that nothing like it can ever happen again.

Comparison Gives Meaning To Debt

The federal debt is so big that the figures representing it are beyond comprehension. Only when it is compared to something near by and more or less familiar can its meaning begin to be appreciated. That is what the Washington State Taxpayers' association has done in an attempt to bring home to the voters the fact that $300,000,000,000, which the federal debt now approaches, is something to worry about.

Pointing out that the population of Washington is 1.43 per cent of the total population of the United States, the association says:

We therefore have a share in the federal debt of 1.43 of $300,000,000,000 or $129,000,000. This is approximately four times the total assessed value of all real and personal property in the state and twice the total value of all taxable property. Our share is 16,725 times the constitutional limit of state debt of $400,000 and 40 times the amount of bonds that can be issued by our taxing authorities with a favorable vote of the people under the 5 per cent limit fixed in the constitution. At our present rate of expenditure it would run our schools or our old-age pension system for 85 years.—Spokane Spokesman-Review.

So-called world powers have one common objective—a "loan" of several billions from Uncle Sam.

Robot has been constructed which is described as having more brains than man, a doubtful compliment.

There is considerable discussion as to just where the Japanese would have liked to see our fleet located in December, 1941. Judging from results, we can't think of any location they could have preferred to Pearl Harbor.

Well Jimmie Byrnes is off for Moscow for the holidays. But the Russians don't expect anything big from us for Christmas. They will be grateful for an atom.

Anyhow it will be quite a sight to see Byrnes, Evin and Molotov, arms locked around each other, singing "Should Auld Acquaintance Be Forgot" or always kept in mind?

Meanwhile, Lord Keynes leaves New York for London. The first news came (International Division) to get an answer from Santa Claus.

Harold Laski found us soft and flabby but Keynes found our money crisp, firm and plentiful and if he would establish six weeks residence in Missouri he'd be our choice for secretary of the treasury.

It took all the forces of the Treasury department under Mr. Vinson, five weeks to ring up a 13 billion dollar victory loan. Then Keynes stepped up, slapped the register once and out tumbled billions.

And that's not a bad jack pot for a man representing a government whose hamlet finds us economically unorthodox.

And to change the subject from economic decadence to fighting magnificence. If you pray at all, throw in a little pitch for Gen. George S. Patton.

Hoover Attacks U. S. Communists

F. B. I. Head Warns Police
 Chiefs Of Nation Against
 Purveyors Of Alien
 Isms

MIAMI, Fla., Dec. 11.—(INS)—FBI Chief J. Edgar Hoover on Monday branded American Communists as foes of the United States who are attempting to "undermine our Democratic institutions."

In an address before the 52nd annual meeting of the International Association of Police Chiefs, Hoover warned against "the subverter and purveyor of alien isms who seek to transform the America we know and love to a land of class struggle."

"The fight against Fascism continues," Hoover told the police chiefs. "To the Fascist foe must be added another, the American Communist."

Fascist Smear Attempt
 "These panders of disbelieve distrust already are concentrating their efforts to confuse and divide by applying the Fascist smear to progressive police departments, the FBI and other American institutions to conceal their own sinister purposes."

"The address, truthless way of life that American Communists would force on America can mean only tyranny and oppression if they succeed. They are against the liberty which is America—they are for the license of their own."

Uses Confidence Man Tricks
 "The Fascist-minded tyrant whom we conquered on the battlefields is no different from the American Communist corruptionist who now uses the tricks of the confidence man until his forces are sufficiently strong to rise with arms in revolt."

The big guns of the Communist party in the U. S. are aimed at returning veterans, openly boasting that here is a new front behind which they can hide.

"They have selected a worthy foe, for the American Legion and the Veterans of Foreign Wars are too experienced in fighting America's enemies to be hoodwinked by these Communist swindlers," he stated.

Hoover asserted that "America cannot exist half Democratic and half Communist or Fascist."

Twenty-Six Have Police Permits To Carry Revolver

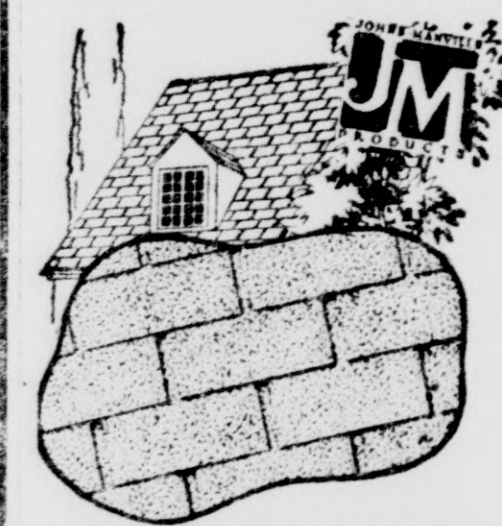

Prior to anyone applying a permit to carry a revolver in New Castle this morning, the permit must be granted by Police Chief Robert D. Hanna that he not only has a good reputation, knows how to handle a revolver but in addition must prove that he is engaged in a position, such as a paymaster, man who carries considerable money and needs it for protection of himself and valuables. Only 26 persons here own such permits from the police chief.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 11.—(INS)—The Reconstruction Finance corporation today awaited a second bid from Koppers, Inc., a Pittsburgh chemical manufacturing plant which is seeking to purchase the Kobuta Rubber plant in Beaver county, Pa.

The first bid was turned down, the RFC explained, "because it laid down certain conditions which the RFC was unable to grant."

An RFC official said that no other bids have been received and that Koppers has been requested to send in another bid.

AUTO ACCIDENTS TAKE BIG JUMP ON STATE ROADS

There were three fatalities on Lawrence county highways during November and none during the same month of 1944, according to state police who reported today that, "since the end of the war, and full tanks of gas, there apparently has been a let down in the same manner in which an auto should be operated."

There were 18 accidents last month compared to only nine during November of 1944, or twice as many. In the crashes there were 22 injured or more than twice as many during 1944's November when only 10 were hurt.

"Cars are old, tires are not as good as they should be but, despite these facts some motorists persist in driving harder instead of less lightly, on a gas pedal," the state police said, after which they expressed the opinion that "a motor vehicle in the hands of a man who sacrifices common sense for speed usually lands in a hospital or in a funeral home."

RICE

Wheat and rice are very much alike. The people of some countries use one and some the other.

Both are rich in starch which provides good food for man, bird or beast.

In this country wheat seems to be more popular than rice. Wheat bread is eaten everywhere.

Rice may be used to vary the diet a little. It may be prepared in so many different ways that almost every appetite may be suited.

Brown rice has more vitamins in it than white rice does but people seem to prefer the white just like they do white bread.

grade children worked out a program whereby one of them, being turned, would read aloud every day to a blind old man in the neighborhood. Such might be done for any adult, bed-ridden, crippled or incapacitated in some other way, by a child or a group of children.

Inner Feelings
See how the inner feelings of these children will be nurtured by good moral education. We parents also might work along these lines with our growing children.

Suppose you are teacher of a fourth grade class at school or Sunday school. Ida Brooks is absent. Her mother is being buried today. Would it not be well for your children if you would talk to them about what they can do when Ida returns to help her forget her sorrow? You can lead the children to see that they should make no remarks to Ida about the loss of her mother, but should strive hard to help her have a good time on the playground and feel that every one is her friend there and in the classroom.

Try Making Cough Syrup at Home. Quick Relief

Saves You Big Dollars. And It's So Easy! No Cooking.

No matter what you usually use for coughs, you'll be more than surprised when you make up this simple home mixture and give it a trial. You'll wonder why you never used it before. It certainly does the work in a hurry.

Make a syrup by stirring 2 cups of granulated sugar and one cup of water a few moments, until dissolved. No cooking is needed—no trouble at all. Or you can use corn syrup or liquid honey, if desired.

Get from your druggist 2½ ounces of Pinex. Pour this into a pint bottle and fill up with your syrup. This makes a full pint—a family supply—and gives you about four times as much for your money. It is so fine that even the most sensitive children love it.

And for quick action, you've never seen it superior. It soothes the inflamed membrane, eases the soreness, makes breathing easier, and lets you sleep. Pinex is a special compound of proven ingredients in concentrated form. A famous, reliable coughing agent for throat and bronchial irritations. Money refunded if it doesn't place you in every way.

G. O. P. Leaders Foresee Gains

Expect Increase In Congress
Membership For Party
During Next Year

OTHER NEWS OF STATE AFFAIRS

HARRISBURG, Dec. 11.—Republican leaders here have predicted the G. O. P. would "substantially" increase its margin of control on Pennsylvania's congressional delegation in next year's elections. The Republicans have an 18-member congressional bloc while the Democrats hold 15 seats, including six in Philadelphia and two in Allegheny county. At the present time the Democrats control both houses of Congress. G. O. P. officials appear confident that the Republicans will, as a result of the 1946 congressional elections throughout the nation, regain control of the lower chamber for the first time in 15 years. Congressmen serve two-year terms and receive a salary of $10,000 a year.

Although the gubernatorial and U. S. senatorial campaigns will hold the spotlight next year, another important state office, secretary of internal affairs, will be filled by the electorate. The office, one of three Cabinet posts selected by the voters, runs for four years. The present secretary is William S. Livergood, Jr., of Somerset, who was first elected to the office in 1938 and re-elected in 1942.

The bi-monthly bulletin of the Pennsylvania Chiefs of Police has reported that of 30 state communities surveyed, 11 have special ordinances dealing with bicycles. Eight communities require residents owning bicycles to purchase licenses while Meadville and Titusville require licenses for both residents and non-residents. Communities which require residents to obtain annual bicycle licenses ranging from 25 to 50 cents included Beaver Falls, Braddock, Ellwood City, Manheim, Milton, Northampton, Monaca and Homestead.

A spokesman for the Pennsylvania Industrial Union Council (CIO) has reported that the approximately 600,000 miners of CIO unions in the commonwealth will be asked to contribute $1 each to finance the Pennsylvania Political Action Committee's 1946 campaign. The spokesman explained the drive was expected to begin some time in January.

A State Planning Board booklet entitled "Conservation" has pointed out that agriculture provides the chief employment in 33 of the state's 67 counties and the second most important source in nine other counties. "The continuing prosperity of the state's agriculture is vital to the welfare of its manufacturing industries and its commerce," the booklet said.

Afflicted Child Has Christmas, Is Awaiting Death

MAYWOOD, Cal., Dec. 11.—(INS)—Slight consolation though it was, three-year-old Marvie Clark had with him memories of a sumptuous Christmas party as he lay in the hospital today for his appointment with death. The lad has a cancerous tumor which physicians have said will take his life in a matter of days. For this reason his Christmas party was held two days ago. Comedian Red Skelton, one of his favorites, visited the boy, thrilling him, and neighbors presented him with a mountain of gifts.

Then yesterday, because he has reached a point where he is in need of almost constant attention, Marvie was removed to the hospital to await the end.

William Howard Taft was the last President of the United States to have whiskers in any form. Taft was mustached.

Heavy Arguments On Pullman Sale

Cleveland Banking Concern
Offers Argument For
Separating Pullman
Enterprise

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 11.—(INS)—The Pullman company, seeking approval of the $75 million sale of the operating end of its sleeping car business to a group of 42 railroads, kept battling against stiff opposition today by three other bidders.

Latest charge in an attempt to block the sale during argument before a special U. S. expeditionary court in Philadelphia was hurled by Chairman Arnold, former U. S. assistant attorney general, who declared such action would be a "cartel enterprise."

Arnold was the mainstay of the government's prosecution of Pullman as a monopoly and the firm was ordered to discontinue the operating or manufacturing end of its sleeping car business. Pullman chose to retain the latter.

Several Bidders
Now representing Otis & Co., Cleveland banking firm Arnold declared that his client would be "the only company which will separate the sleeping car business from the manufacturing business." He said the company will be "one of the most important in transportation history."

Counsel for Pullman argued that the court lacked jurisdiction to reject the railroads' bid because "it happens to be unqualified acceptance of the railroads' offer of a contract authorized by the court."

George Wharton Pepper, Pullman counsel, pointed out that "the burden is on the others to prove that the contract should not be carried out."

Besides the railroads and Otis, other bidders are: Glare Forean & Co., Chicago bankers, and Standard Steel Spring Co., Coraopolis, Pa.

No Complaints On Stops Reach Mayor

No person nor group of persons have complained to me of there being too many bus stops," Mayor John F. Haven stated today when asked if any complaints had been made.

During gas shortage days city council sanctioned a Skip-stop system. However, when gas rationing was eliminated council ordered the local bus company to make all former bus stops.

NO EXTENSION OF BUS ROUTE ASKED

Shenandoah Valley Bus company officials have not yet been asked by the city to extend its Croton Avenue bus line to the city line and Harlanburg road as requested by Croton petitioners recently.

Guidance Council To Undertake Study Of Pupil Case Histories

Teachers, Principals Hear Representatives Of Social Agencies Discuss Case Study

Attempting to establish a closer relationship between the schools and the social work agencies in making case studies, members of the guidance council, principals of the city schools and the superintendent of schools met in the senior high auditorium Monday evening to hear representatives of various local agencies.

The schools are working out a city-wide plan of case study as part of their guidance study for this year. Extensive case histories of the plans and possibilities of individual children will be made, with some visits as part of the process. Each teacher will plan one definite and thorough case study during the year, but the project will not end there. The techniques learned during the year will be carried on and used in future guidance work in the schools.

Speakers for the evening included Miss Elizabeth Breslin, executive secretary of the local Red Cross chapter, who outlined the work of her agency and discussed situations where the Red Cross could co-operate with the schools. John Brinton, head of the local Department of Public Assistance office, set up a complete history of a case, discussing the need for supplementary help and suggesting contributions which could be made to the program.

Jack Dunlap, county probation officer, spoke on the legal work, pointing out the possibilities of settling problems through the co-operation of everyone concerned before the situation became a legal case. Rev. George Braun of the Epworth Methodist church concluded the talks by emphasizing the need for well-rounded personalities, balancing the spiritual, mental, social and physical factors.

Budget Committee
During the evening Mrs. Marjorie Nelson, chairman of the guidance council, appointed a budget committee, consisting of Miss Helen Maxwell, Miss Marina Matthews, Miss Ruth Lewis, Miss Dorothy Edwards, J. C. Ward and Leslie Roberts. The committee, working with the principals of the various schools, will draw up recommendations for materials which will be needed for guidance work in the schools. This budget will be submitted to Frank L. Burton, superintendent of schools, and later to the school board.

The guidance council is made up of representatives from each of the schools in the city.

Seek Deer Hunter For Shooting Youth

Believe Nimrod Shot Boy After Illegally Wounding Doe In Brookway Area

BROOKWAY, Dec. 11.—Game officials of this section wanted the woods here today and were speaking to a hunter for whom they were looking in a search for clues to the shooting of Scott Johns, Jr., of Summerville, who was shot by a hunter after the same nimrod is believed to have wounded an illegal deer.

Officials thought that the hunter shot at Johns in an effort to cover his own violation of firing at a doe. An antlerless deer was making its way toward the spot where Johns was standing with the hunter in pursuit. The wounded deer fell a few feet from Johns and the hunter fired again, hitting Johns in the hand.

When the youth cried out, members of his party rushed to the scene but the hunter who fired the shot had fled.

Sgt. Budea Johns Writes Of Life On Two Jima Island

Soldier Discusses Existence Of The Last Garrison On 'The Rock'

A vivid letter has been received by The News from Sgt. Budea Johns of this city who is with the 3606th Ordnance Company on the desolate island of Two Jima. One of the last soldiers on the island, Sgt. Johns discusses life there before the Army moves out and the base is taken over by the Navy.

"Since the last time I wrote you many changes have taken place on the island. We call it the 'Rock,' although it is more like heaps of ash mounds and chalklike clay. 'The various placements of units are in a virtual stage of desertion and razed areas. Many of the AGP settlements have been abandoned by order of the Island Command and have been shipped out, either to the States or to some other occupation area. From the full island strength of 33,000 men, the population of Two Jima has dropped to a mere 11,000. Shipping is getting brisker and we are assured of future evacuation.

Navy Will Take Over
The Island Command has issued the order that the island will be cleared of all Army personnel by January 15, 1946, when the Navy will take over.

The weather here is getting cold, with strong winds and slashing sudden squalls that go as fast as they come. It is like April in New Castle only the rains don't fall here, they are blown horizontally by the ocean winds.

Food Is Fair
"Our food is fair, but I know that I will never be able to look a goat in the face when I get home. 'New Zealand steak' we call them—ugh! This is compensated by our coke and beer ration.

"Our unit, which is maintenance, is salvaging and reclaiming all the automotive equipment and getting it ready for shipment.

"Not long ago I received a very pathetic request by a resident of Sharon who happened to read my little article in The News. This lady wrote to my wife and asked for my address on Two and offered her reasons.

"It seems that a Lt. Donald G. Howard of New Castle was killed on this island, the night of a Jap suicide attack March 26, 1945. His mother has never given up hope that he is still alive, and this lady's aunt has asked me to take a photograph of his grave to verify it. I located the grave in the Fourth Marine Division Cemetery and took the picture. I hope this picture may in some way, help to clear up some of the doubt and worry in their minds.

ARRIVE IN NEWFOUNDLAND
William Alexander, 217 Pearson street, is in receipt of a letter from his sister-in-law, Mrs. Sally P. Botham, missionary to French West Africa, stating that she and her co-worker, Miss Cecelia Lewis had arrived in Newfoundland, after a five and a half hour trip from the States. The letter stated it would take nine and a half hours to reach Ireland, from that point six and a half hours to Lisbon, Portugal.

More Schools Close Due To Flu Spread

More Eastern Pennsylvania Schools
Are In Grip Of Spreading
Flu Epidemic

(By International News Service)
The changing weather which has blanketed many Pennsylvania communities with snow, and soaked other areas with chilling rains offered no let up today in the increasing spread of flu and grip.

Young and old alike have been stricken, causing high absenteeism in factories, while more schools were closing their doors until the outbreak subsides.

Although health authorities have minimized fears, they urged the public to take ample precautions to prevent a spread of epidemic proportions.

Officials in Chester closed the Snedley Junior high school after a 13-year-old girl pupil was fatally stricken with what was diagnosed as influenza and pneumonia. Five hundred pupils of the Chester high schools were reported to have colds.

College Is Closed
The Pennsylvania Military college also was closed. Twenty-two cadets were reported to be ill from heavy colds. Near Norristown the West Norristown school was shut down until December 17. More than a fourth of the 330 pupils enrolled were absent.

Lancaster schools also were closed for a week. The grip has stricken 25 per cent of 9000 pupils in the city and in the nearby township of West Lampeter.

Five deaths from influenza were reported in Philadelphia last week, as well as 21 new cases of the sickness.

Churches schools and theaters were closed in Chambersburg, and Christmas vacations were begun earlier at the Wilson college and Penn Hall girls' schools nearby.

The western areas also felt the blow, with all schools in Avalon, a Pittsburgh suburb, closed. Two Johnstown schools also were reported shut down.

There is also additional streamlined modern styling. This new car is now rolling off the assembly lines in quantity production.

Communities Will Get Profit Share

WILKINSBURG, Pa., Dec. 11—(INS)—All 19 communities served by the Pennsylvania Water company were assured today of a share in the profits of an authority formed to purchase the firm.

Wilkesburg council approved a trust deed that provides the profits will be divided among the 19 municipalities after the cost of the company has been met.

The $5,000,000 purchase price will be financed by 30-year bonds and, it is estimated, these will be paid off in about 18 years.

Wilkesburg council, which joined with Penn township officials to form the authority, also authorized the discontinuance of an $8 service charge of fire plugs in all the communities as soon as the purchase of the utility company is approved by the Public Utility commission.

Majority Of Sunday Schools To Resume Christmas Treat

The chances are that if Junior and Susie behave themselves between now and Christmas and attend Sunday school for the next two Sundays, they will get their Christmas treat this year.

The exemplary boys and girls of the city for the past three years, in most instances have been denied their usual Christmas candy because the shipping space used to bring in the sugar cane from the East and West Indies was used in getting Uncle Sam's boxes over there to put the Axis powers in their proper place.

In a survey made of 30 churches, picked at random throughout the city it is found that 85 per cent of the churches checked will be giving the annual treat again following a three-year absence.

The variety of candy to be dispensed through the various Sunday schools may not be up to par as in previous years with about 75 per cent of the half-pound boxes usually handed out being of the hard type, while the remainder will be suitable for grandpa's false teeth if he chooses to "stitch" a pull from Junior's box.

The sisters will have to wait until Christmas of '47 for the candy to reach them, as most of the churches are confining the treats to primary and intermediate departments of their respective schools.

The first state to levy a motor fuel tax was Oregon, in 1919.

Steel Strike Decision Near

PITTSBURGH, Dec. 11—(INS)—Sawmakers and the public may hear today when nearly a million steelworkers in 27 states are going to walk out in support of a $2 daily wage hike demand.

The 175-man CIO-United Steelworker National Wage Policy committee will meet in Pittsburgh to hear the recommendations of its executive board which met yesterday.

A union spokesman said there would be no announcement until the conclusion of the conference.

Philip Murray, union president, yesterday said, however:

"We've put the preliminaries tomorrow, we'll have something definite to say."

Separate Air Force Proposed

Legislation Introduced To Provide Air Force Separate From Army And Navy

WASHINGTON, Dec. 11.—(INS)—Legislation was introduced in the house Monday to establish an air force separate from the army and navy.

Sponsors of the bill—chairmen of the house military and naval committees—are opposed to the proposed unification of the armed forces.

Rep. Carl Vinson, chairman of the naval committee, declared: "This is our answer to unification."

The bill would not affect the navy's air arm. The sponsors pointed out that since naval aviation presents a different problem it should not be placed under an overall air command.

In a joint statement Vinson and Rep. Andrew J. May, chairman of the military committee, said:

"We have introduced these bills because we believe that unification of the army and navy is not the answer to the problem of national defense under modern methods of warfare. In our opinion it is to be found in the creation of a separate and independent air force."

Under the bill there will be three separate branches of national defense—the army, the navy and the air force. The air force would be permitted to create its own reserve corps, and the legislation proposes the establishment of a separate air academy for the training of officers in the corps.

The head of the new organization would be a "secretary of the air forces" apparently with cabinet status.

Lawrence County Farm, Home News

By Extension Representatives, LEWIS C. DAYTON, Agriculture, MISS MARY ELLEN MCCLAIN, Home Economics.

PROFITABLE FARMING MEANS GOOD RECORDS

Farming is a business and requires records and cost accounts just as any other business. It is these records and accounts of the farm business that permits a farmer to study and analyze his business and his operations.

From these records, the farmer learns which parts of his business have been profitable and which have not been satisfactory, as well as why some phases have not been profitable. Changes in management can then be made with something definite on which to base future plans.

The Lawrence County Agricultural Extension office has a supply of the farm account books used by many progressive farmers to keep accurate account of their various transactions, expenses and sales. These books, now available for $1, may be obtained at the Agricultural Extension office, 206 Post Office building, New Castle.

Location Marker For Airplanes Not Erected Here Yet

No building has yet been selected by members of city council upon which the city intends to have painted the name of the city, sign pointing north and south, and mileage from the city to the nearest airport, as suggested to the city by the State Board of Aeronautics, according to Property Director Joe Alexander.

Pennsylvania Power company Service Building is one of the local structures which may have sufficient room on the roof and a building being erected by Mooney Bros. may also have sufficient roof surface for the lettering, when the building is completed.

This information would be for information of pilots of planes seeking information as to their whereabouts and nearest field.

At the conclusion of his terminal leave on January 28, Capt. George goes on inactive duty.

They explained the courses, program of study, work, social life, and expenses of the three year training course, and discussed the requirements of their hospitals. Going into their subject even further, they pointed out the various fields to which nursing leads, such as public health work, industrial work and work in veterans' hospitals as well as general and private duty.

AROUND CITY HALL

Police pension board and city council have changed the pension law for police upon retirement at the age of 65 from $30 to $60.

Council gave the city treasurer permission to purchase 20,000 three-cent stamps for treasury business.

City Engineer John Z. Street was asked to make a report and recommendation of a request by Louis Cohen to build a sanitary sewer on his Neal street property and connect it with the city system and which would become part of the public system. Council passed a motion of Safety Director J. O. Davies instructing the legal department to confer with the school board and county commissioners relative to the city acquiring some Taylor street lots taken by the county for delinquent taxes. The three-lot area is to be paved next spring according to promises of the state highway department.

Youth Military Training Outline Presented Today

War Department Gives Picture Of What Military Training Would Mean To Youths

WASHINGTON, Dec. 11.—(INS)—The War department presented a "before and after" picture of the nation's youth to Congress in urging adoption of the Army's universal military training program.

Distributed among members of the House Military Affairs committee studying the proposed legislation, the pamphlet was strikingly similar to booklets on campus life issued by colleges to increase enrollment.

Eighteen-year-old boys entering one year's training were expected to emerge as strapping young giants both mentally and physically—well equipped to engage in possible future wars.

The graphic illustration of a boy's life under the program supplied testimony prepared by Maj. Gen. Ray N. Porter, director of the War department's special planning division.

Boys would be chosen for the training at the age of 18 or upon graduation from high school under similar procedure to selective service. The department said:

"It will be as though he were leaving home for college or a new job."

Camps in South
Camps would be placed largely in the south to obtain year round training, the Army disclosed, and when the trainee comes home:

"His interests have broadened, he has learned to play new sports; he has learned the habit of concentration in study; he has learned to assume responsibility and exercise leadership; he looks a man."

"Outdoor living, exercise, regular hours, and well-balanced meals have strengthened him and given him endurance. He is physically fit and mentally alert."

The department stressed that the boys would not become regimented or militaristic. Instructors would be drawn largely from the officers reserve corps—civilians like the youths they train.

In addition to the health, recreation and religious programs offered under the Army's plan to rig out the nation's youth, the system would involve recruit, technical and both small and large unit training.

State Leads In Delinquency Investigations

HARRISBURG, Dec. 11.—(INS)—Surveys of factors contributing to juvenile delinquency were being conducted in 23 Pennsylvania counties today by the Pennsylvania Federation of Women's clubs.

The survey, ordered by the 1945 general assembly as a base for drafting remedial legislation, is being directed by the State Welfare department.

Dr. E. Preston Sharpe, director of the department's Bureau of Community Work, said several initial surveys had been submitted.

"The progress of the Pennsylvania organization is the most outstanding in the nation, according to reports issued at a recreation meeting in Washington," Sharpe said.

The study will determine remedial measures necessary at local and county levels, according to Sharpe. Health, financial and environmental factors will be taken into consideration, he added.

Now is the time for youngsters to get out with the pigskin. The game is a lot of fun.

Declares Drunks Travel Menace

EVANSTON, Ill., Dec. 11.—(INS)—It's not the crowded coaches and lack of sleeping cars that make train travel so difficult—"and dangerous"—for members of the W. C. T. U.

It's the drunks, Mrs. D. Leigh Collins, president of the Women's Christian Temperance Union, said today.

She and the union are backing a bill introduced by Rep. Sam Russell (D., Tex.) to make railroads liable for damages to passengers due to drinking on trains.

School Absences Hit Highest Total Since Mild Epidemic Began

In spite of a large decrease yesterday, the number of pupils absent from school because of influenza increased to 1979 this morning, making today's record the highest for absences this year, according to Frank L. Burton, superintendent of the city schools.

Some of the schools show a decline which is balanced by an increase in other schools. Those with lower students absent today than last week are Franklin junior high school, senior high school and Oak street school.

More students are absent today than last week at North street school, Lincoln-Garfield and Washington public high. Several other schools show an increase of 100, 200 or more students.

Although influenza is still expected, school authorities are looking for the epidemic to subside now that the weather is colder. Mr. Burton said. The situation has been getting gradually worse for the past week and a half, with Monday showing a slight but temporary improvement. The 1978 figure is still almost one-fourth of the total school enrollment.

WILL THERE BE A STEEL STRIKE?

Not if the CIO abides by its pledged word, given only last spring.

Question: What would be the general effect on the country of a steel strike?

Answer: Over 40 per cent of all the factory workers in the country earn their living by making steel into useful products for American life. A shut-down of the steel industry would be a disastrous blow to reconversion and would cause a serious loss in both wages and industrial production at a time when they were most needed.

Question: Is it true that the Steelworkers Union has pledged itself not to strike?

Answer: Yes. Every contract which the Union has signed this year with the various steel companies has a clause wherein the Union agrees not to strike during the life of the contract.

Question: Are those contracts still in effect?

Answer: Yes. They were signed in the spring of 1945 to run until October, 1946.

Question: Who signed for the Union?

Answer: Its international officials—Philip Murray, Van Bittner, Clinton Golden and others—and the local Union heads at the various plants.

Question: Is there no "escape clause" by which either side could end the agreements?

Answer: No. The Union demanded a fixed, long-term contract and got it.

Question: Why did they want a long-term contract?

Answer: In the Union's own words before the War Labor Board, "The Union's request for a termination date of October, 1946, is not made capriciously or pressed here for bargaining purposes. It represents the considered view of the Union that only such a term will adequately serve the needs of stability."

Question: Did the recent strike vote violate the contracts?

Answer: No. Only an actual strike would violate them.

Question: Haven't there been strikes already during the life of the contracts?

Answer: Yes. There were 998 strikes in steel plants during the past year alone. They were mostly local strikes which the Union characterizes as "wildcat," but they meant a big loss in production.

Question: Does the end of the war justify changing the contracts?

Answer: No. The bond was sealed on both sides and should be kept whether times be good or bad. The steel companies are continuing to live up to these agreements. If a strike is called, it will be in clear violation of the existing contracts.

V V V

A strike in the face of existing contracts would shatter any confidence in the validity of union agreements in the steel industry.

Hoover Attacks U. S. Communists

F. B. I. Head Warns Police
Chiefs Of Nation Against
Purveyors Of Alien
Isms

MIAMI, Fla., Dec. 11.—(INS)—FBI Chief J. Edgar Hoover on Monday branded American Communists as foes of the United States who are attempting to "undermine our Democratic institutions."

In an address before the 52nd annual meeting of the International Association of Police Chiefs, Hoover warned against "the subverter and purveyor of alien isms who seek to transform the America we know and love to a land of class struggle."

"The fight against Fascism continues," Hoover told the police chiefs. "To the Fascist foe must be added another, the American Communist."

"These panders of diabolic distrust already are concentrating their efforts to confuse and divide by applying the Fascist smear to progressive police departments, the FBI and other American institutions to conceal their own sinister purposes."

"The godless, truthless way of life that American Communists would force on America can mean only tyranny and oppression if they succeed. They are against the liberty which is America—they are for the license of their own."

Uses Confidence Man Tricks
"The Fascist-minded tyrant whom we conquered on the battlefields is no different from the American Communist corruptionist who now uses the tricks of the confidence man until his forces are sufficiently strong to rise with arms in revolt."

"The big guns of the Communist party in the U. S. are aimed at returning veterans, openly boasting that here is a new front behind which they can hide."

"They have selected a worthy foe, for the American Legion and the Veterans of Foreign Wars are too experienced in fighting America's enemies to be hoodwinked by these Communist swindlers," he stated.

Hoover asserted that "America cannot exist half Democratic and half Communist or Fascist."

Twenty-Six Have Police Permits To Carry Revolver

Prior to anyone obtaining a permit to carry a revolver in New Castle the person seeking the permit must convince Chief of Police Robert D. Hanna that he not only has a good reputation, knows how to handle a revolver but in addition must prove that he is engaged in a position, such as a paymaster, man who carries considerable money and needs it for protection of himself and valuables. Only 26 persons here own such permits from the police chief.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 11.—(INS)—The Reconstruction Finance corporation today awaited a second bid from Koppers, Inc., a Pittsburgh chemical manufacturing plant which is seeking to purchase the Kobuta Rubber plant in Beaver county, Pa. An RFC official said that no other bids have been received and that Koppers has been requested to send in another bid.

Independence Needed Hood Says

Johns Manville Executive
Stresses Need For More
Idealism In Relations

GIVES BARS TO FULL EMPLOYMENT

Not independence but interdependence, not rugged individualism but the common good, must be the guiding principle of the free enterprise system of the future if it is to meet the pressing challenge of modern society, Arthur A. Hood, director of dealer relations of Johns Manville, New York, declared yesterday when he spoke at the New Castle Rotary club luncheon to a large and intensely interested audience at the Castleton.

After every war," he said, "there is a longing to return to the good old days. But, he warned, we have never gone back to normalcy after any war and we can't go back this time."

Cites Ten Reasons

There are ten good reasons why we can't go back, he said. They are: the present peace which is no peace; the discovery of full employment, a three hundred billion dollar national debt, 120 billions in savings, 27 billions in cash in the pockets of American individuals, a doubled income in many American homes during the war, a new declaration of human rights, a new understanding of economics, a world-wide swing to the left and the fact of atomic energy.

Regarding the new declaration of human rights, Mr. Hood declared it is contained in the preamble of the full employment bill recently passed by one house of Congress which says that all Americans able to work and desiring to work have the right to a good job.

The American people have learned that it is possible to have full employment in war time, he said, and they are going to have full employment in peace or know the reason why.

There are, however, ten "road blocks" standing in the way of full peacetime employment, he pointed out.

Chief of these are the historic depression cycle which usually follows war, the stupendous volume of production which full employment suggests, the immediate loss of half our national "sales volume" which consisted of war orders, the deadly competition ahead, warfare on the home front between management and labor, government interference with business and the failure of many Americans to realize that we have emerged from an economy of independence of rugged individualism, to an economy of interdependence.

Salesmanship Needed

And not the least of the road blocks, he insisted, is a totally inadequate selling structure from manufacturing right down the line to retailing.

In a free market, where the consumer's choice whether to buy or not to buy is decisive and where it is the final and determining factor in all production, first-rate salesmanship is obviously a first imperative, he pointed out.

That is why there must be an intelligently calculated engineering approach to the entire problem of production and distribution, Mr. Hood declared. He said that it has so far been impossible to satisfy all human wants at any given time, yet it is a fact that it has been always possible to satisfy more than half any given want. Which is another way of saying that it is always possible to produce too much of any given goods at any given time.

Consequently modern production and distribution must not only be integrated, but there must be constant, intensive and intelligent market research, there must be vertical co-ordination of effort and there must be careful elimination of waste, whether at the manufacturing, wholesale or retail level. All this must be built around a price and profit policy which aims at the lowest possible price at capacity production.

If we should fail to find solutions, if the historic depression cycle should again catch up with us, we may expect our traditional system to give way to a state-controlled economy, Mr. Hood warned, and he stressed the warning by recalling how many federal laws are now in force all tending to regulate or control or direct or even manage modern business enterprises.

Schools Not Closed To Control Flu

HARRISBURG, Dec. 11.—(INS)—Dr. William D. Schrack Jr., health department epidemiologist, pointed out today that closing of schools due to the prevalence of gripe resulted from decreased attendance and not attempt to control the epidemic.

"The closing of schools to control the gripe is not reasonable unless movies, churches and grocery stores are closed too," he stated. "People should not become overly alarmed because some schools have shut their doors."

Although the intention was widespread, Schrack added, it was not "complicated with pneumonia, which made the situation so serious in 1918."

He said no vaccine had been found for combating the ailment.

Croton Bond Drive Over Top By $80

The points of the Croton Avenue grade school have over-subscribed their bond quota by $80.80. The original goal set for the school to attain was $3,000 but when the final check was made, the amount totaled $3,080.80.

The money subscribed by the Croton students will be used in the purchase of a complete hospital unit for some army hospital.

Plans are under way in the school to present the annual Christmas program of the pupils which will be presented just prior to the dismissal of the children for the holidays.
